The first column starts here and carries on over several lines of ordinary English text until the first paragraph of this column ends.

The second column starts at the top too, with different text entirely, and must be read after the first one, not in the middle of it.